EASLEY APPOINTS MURRAY TO BUILDING CODE COUNCIL

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley has appointed Dan R. Murray of Raleigh to the Building Code Council.

Murray has worked for the North Carolina Department of Administration State Construction Office since 1979. He has been the Assistant Director of the FCAP section since 1998. Murray has been a registered professional engineer in North Carolina since 1978. He received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering from North Carolina State University in 1972.

The Building Code Council prepares and adopts criteria in accordance with the North Carolina State Building Code. This includes classifying the buildings in terms of what they will be used for and who will occupy them; building regulations such as location, height, lighting and ventilation; and rules concerning chimneys, plumbing, heating and air conditioning. The code determines materials permissible to build the structure as well as precautions taken during construction. The 17 members of the Building Code Council all serve six-year terms.
